What is it like to be part of the program?

Leading With Pride holds classwork over six weeks, launching on Sunday, 28 April 2024. You'll work online each week to understand principles and self-reflect using assignments and self-assessments as well as group sharing. You will spend 5 to 7 hours each week on reading modules and exercises. Your group of five to ten peers will be going through the program together. You will be connected to your group in an online chat as you work through the assignments during the week and meet on Sundays for sharing, review, and discussion. Some of the sharing and reflection can be personal and the highest level of confidentiality is expected. Three of the Saturday sessions will be virtual and three will be in person at the Capgemini facility in Kolkata.

Toward the end of the six-week coursework period, you will finalize your goals for a certification project related to the change you want most for the world (your "Passion"). You will also be connected to a mentor from Capgemini. Over the next five to six months, you will lead the project to its completion. Your mentor will be your coach. You will find and motivate the people you need to help using the tools and principles you have learned. You will report your project progress to your group or "pod" once monthly in a virtual meeting. You will complete your certification by completing your project and a few short tasks related to your LWP learning and development. On Friday, 04 October 2024, you, along with your pod, will meet in person to receive and celebrate your certifications.

What must I do to participate:

Complete the short application at leadingwithpride.com. In the application, you will be expected to tell us about what you want to change most in the world and a little bit about yourself. We also ask for your social media links and contact information.

Once we get this information, we will work with you to answer your questions and get you set up for success in the program. You are expected to deposit a fully refundable commitment fee of INR 10000.

(Note: there are a very limited number of opportunities for individuals who struggle to pay the 10000 INR to receive loans. There are additional forms and process steps to qualify for this program. Participants are highly encouraged to self-fund through their own resources or with the help of friends and family.)

You will be sent an email notifying you that you have been accepted and can return to the website to complete an online profile. In the profile, you will need to provide some additional information about yourself and provide us with the contact information for a person who will assess your progress. We will call them "your assessor". This should be a person who knows you are taking this program and can fill out a short survey about your leadership skills.

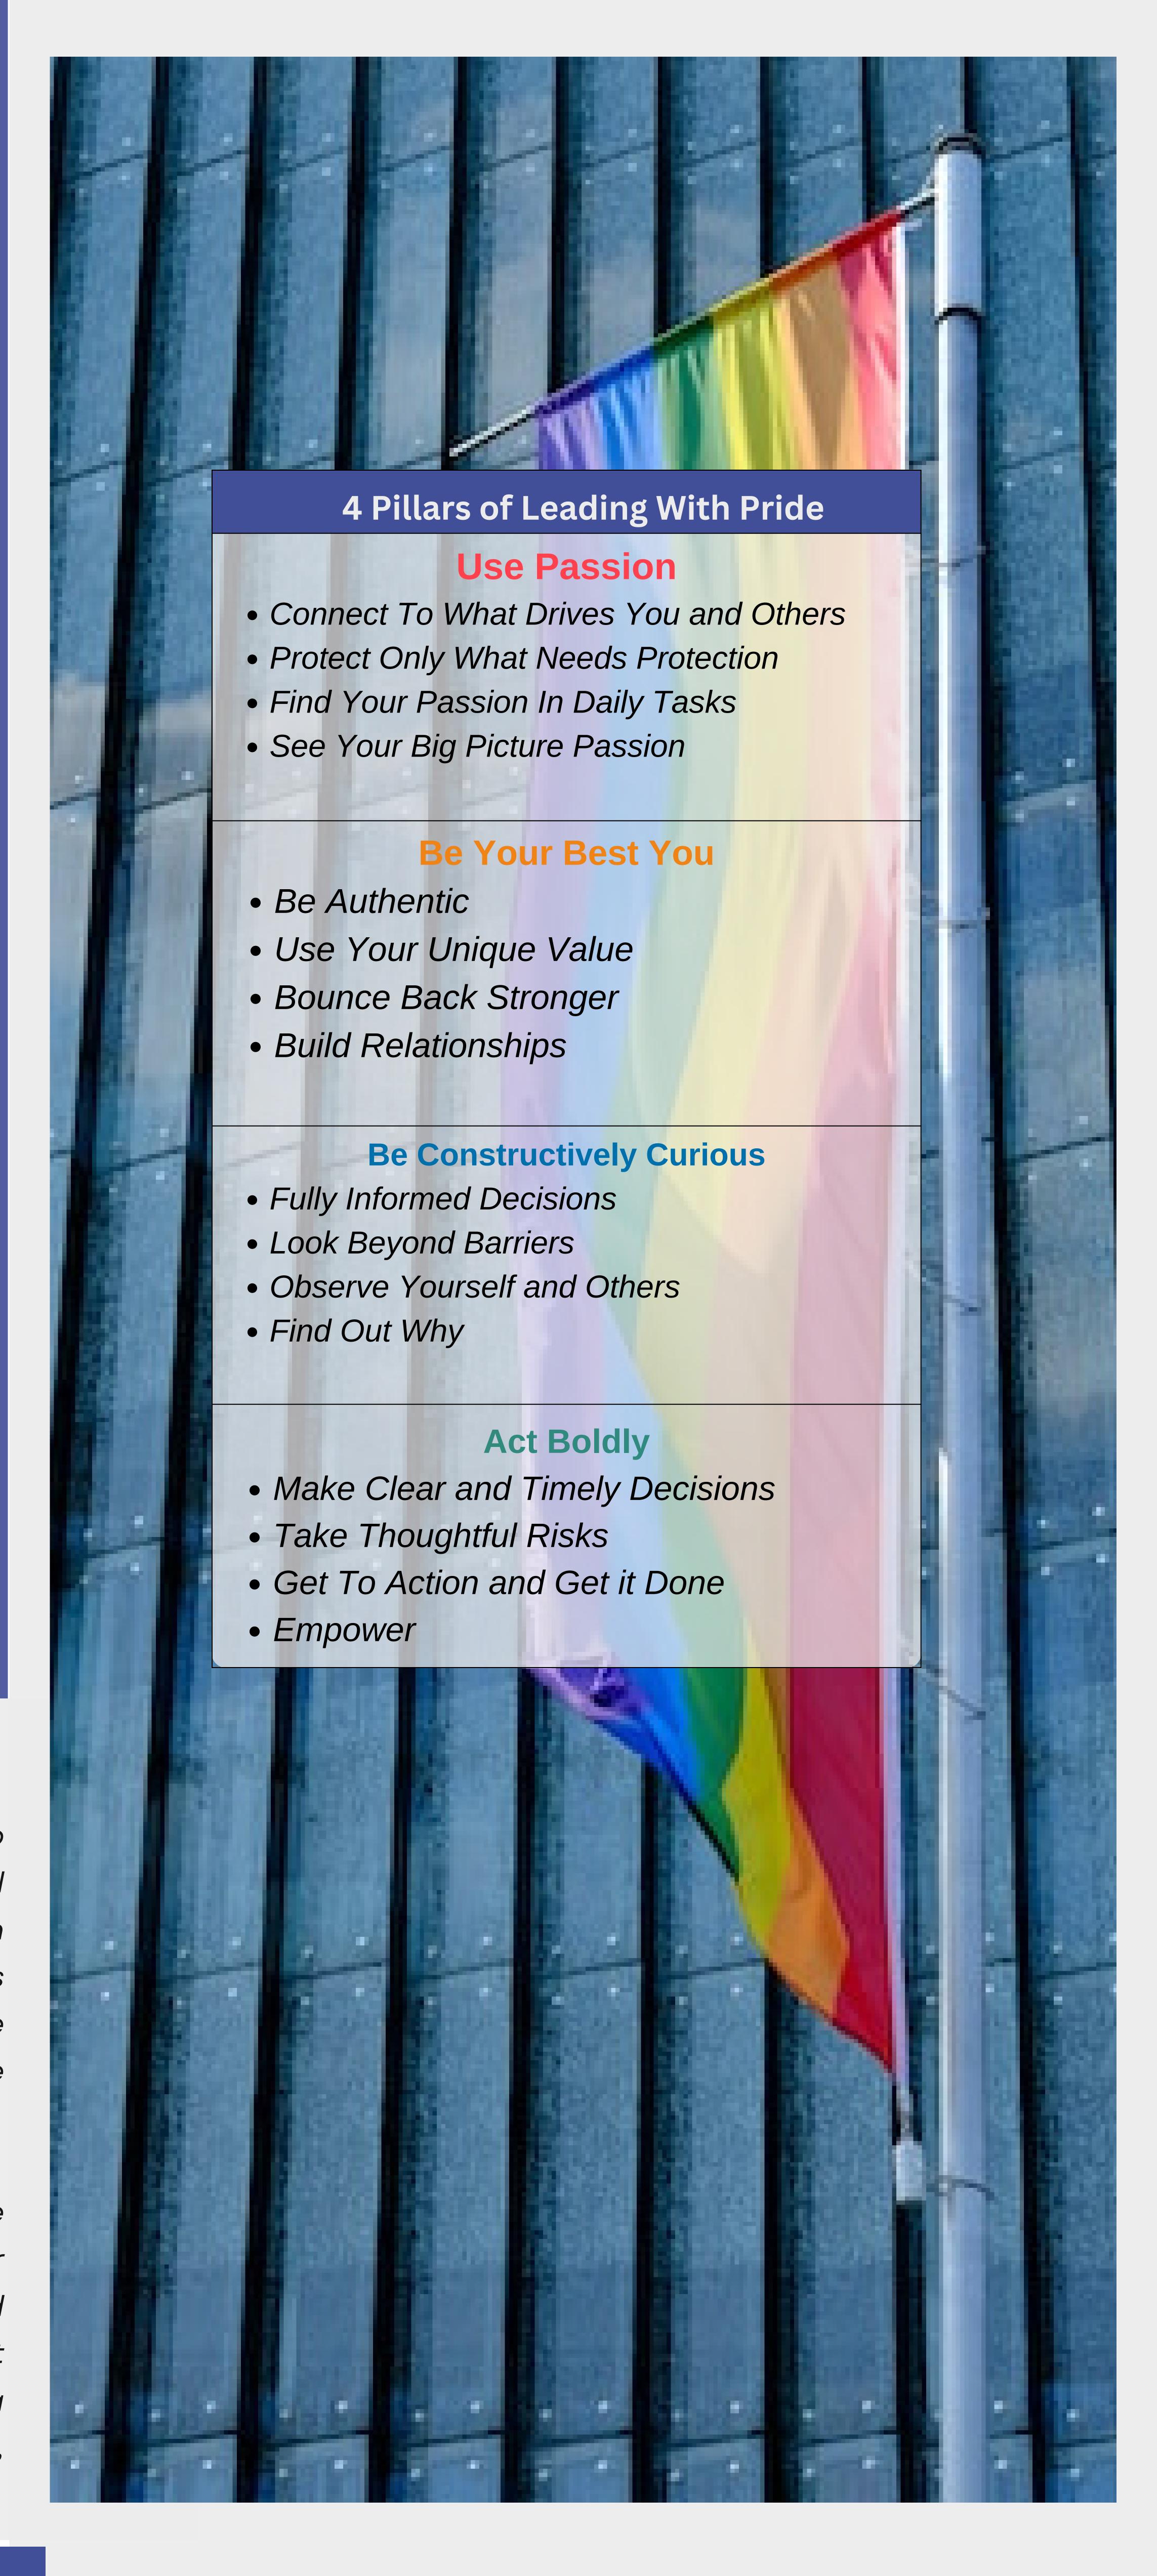

They can be a supervisor, friend, or another associate who sees or talks with you often enough to see how you act. We use this information to objectively measure the effectiveness of the program. We will send them (and you) a survey three times; when you start the program, when you complete the coursework, and just before your certification. You should feel comfortable following up with them to ensure they have completed their survey at the correct time. Check our website for additional information on the assessor role.

After completing your profile, you can begin the coursework using the website tools and modules. You will be given four to six modules each week that you will need to complete prior to the Sunday session. Plan on five to seven hours of dedicated time and focus on completing your coursework each week. Coursework will involve reading in-depth material, watching videos, and completing quizzes and exercises, some of which will ask you to reflect on your life experiences. The work is designed to be intensive and cover a lot of important, sometimes new, and complex topics. You will need to plan time each day to work on completing the content and assignments.

In addition to the coursework, your group will meet each Saturday. The Virtual sessions (using Zoom) will start at 9:00 a.m. and finish at 5:30 p.m. with a two-hour break for Lunch. The In-person sessions will be at an Capgemini facility, Kolkata at 9:00 a.m. and ending at 6:00 p.m. Lunch will be provided. You are required to attend six sessions fully prepared. Virtual sessions must be attended from a quiet, private place with high speed stable internet.

After completing the coursework, you will focus on your project work. You will pitch your project idea to your mentor and assessor. Your mentor will coach you and the Leading With Pride staff will be available to provide additional guidance and help resolve problems. Once each month, there will be an online meeting with your group where you will report progress on your project. Additionally, you will be connected to people who have completed the Leading With Pride program and you can also reach out to them for ideas and support.

Being halfway through your project and mentor-mentee journey, there will be a high-tea/joint dinner, where you can get to know your mentors better and network well at the end of the project period, you will be expected to complete your certification by showing evidence of your project completion as well as some simple examples of how you have applied what you learned. The certification celebration will be held in October in Kolkata.
